ELEVATE IN 2025

Did you make a New Year's resolution for 2025? I did. I aim to "Elevate" My Everyday! What does that mean? It means being the author I want to be. It means making the time to create stories and develop characters readers want to read.

Many people join gyms and set workout goals or job goals. How do I plan to "elevate" in 2025? That's easy to answer. In 2025, you will get to spend more time with the family and friends of Kathleen and Jackson. In Out of Her Control introduced Nicolette and Travis. You will learn what's going on between them in the Book 2 of the "Her Series." Will they be able to let the lie that tore them apart keep them apart? Or will it be fear?

After spending time with Nicolette and Travis, the drama between adversaries Harmoni and Marshall heats up in Book 3. Being on opposite sides of the law does not affect their passion. However, it does create a reason for Harmoni to keep her past from the overprotective prosecutor.

I am looking forward to sharing these stories with you. I am also looking forward to the next Holiday novella, which will center around a spring or summer celebration. I have a story in mind, but I am struggling with what holiday will be the focus. My Holiday with the Nutcracker centered around Christmas. It was fun to write and share some of my own Christmas traditions. A visit back to Dolphin Island will be interesting.

What are you doing in 2025?

Meet Jackson Black

This six-six former marine and now police detective is fine. His build reminds me of Dwayne “The Rock” Johnson. While writing Out of Her Control, I kept a picture of Dwayne in my files. I have watched so much WWE wrestling and all his movies that I don’t need the picture, but it was good to have one nearby. It didn’t hurt to have that eye candy. Don’t you agree?

As a natural-born leader with old-school caveman tactics, Jackson was confident, assertive, and courageous. An air of dominance always surrounded him. Aware of that, he ensures his strength doesn’t intimidate those around him. That is unless you are some type of bad guy.

Jackson loves Nicolette. He knew she was the one for him at their first meeting, and his desire for her was instant and profound. Losing her because he was not there to protect her has put him on edge. Protecting her from further hurt and finding the one who hurt her has become his sole purpose. In his mind, it was the only way he would get her back.

Jackson has no problem getting help from his partner, her family and friends, and his four brothers to achieve his goal. He focused on protecting the woman he loved and convincing her to give them a second chance.
